U.S. Announces March 11 Effective Date for Temporary Large Civil Aircraft Dispute Tariff Suspension

This morning, the U.S. Trade Representative announced that the suspension of the Section 301 tariffs on goods from the European Union due to the Large Civil Aircraft Dispute is effective as of 12:01 AM on March 11, 2021.

Last week, the U.S. and European Union agreed to temporarily suspend the additional tariff resulting from the Large Civil Aircraft Dispute. This means that goods, including cheeses and dairy products, imported from EU countries will temporarily not be subject to the additional 25% Section 301 duties. The temporary suspension will initially last four months, until July 2021.

As previously reported, the initial onslaught of duties occurred in October 2019 when the U.S. imposed on new European large civil aircrafts and 25 percent tariffs on agricultural and other products. This included a large number of cheeses and dairy products imported from various EU countries and the UK. The EU then imposed tariffs on $4 billion of American products in November 2020. This announcement is a major step in potentially resolving the 17-year transatlantic dispute over aircraft subsidies.

We will continue to keep you updated as more information is provided by USTR regarding resolution of this dispute. If you have questions, please contact the Husch Blackwell team at CIAAGeneralCounsel@huschblackwell.com.
